

KEEP YOUR MONEY AT HOME.

The Truckee Republican has the following:

The practice that some people in small towns have of ordering goods from traveling drummers, instead of spending their money in the community where they earn it, is entirely wrong. Those who resort to such a practice do so simply to save a paltry sum of money, and such a course is the very acme of stinginess.

Small towns are built up by the public spirit of the citizens, and the men who earn money in Nevada City to spend it elsewhere neutralize the efforts of progression and enterprise.

Such men should be spotted and treated as drones in the hive. Some excuse themselves on the ground of hard times, not realizing how much they are contributing to this same stagnation. It is uphill work for a small town to make any progress against such adverse influence. They embrace all classes, from the citizen who buys his groceries by the wholesale in San Francisco, to the women who think they must send "below" for their little articles of finery.

When a tradesman is endeavoring to make simply a fair profit, he has a right to expect the patronage of the town he lives in, and deserves it.

The above is from the Nevada Transcript. There are merchants in Truckee who patronize drummers and send away for articles and work they can have at home, and thus live and let live. These same men are often the foremost to complain of the results of the examples they set.

The Paper Supply.

Ruff Shoemaker publishes the following:

We noticed several day ago that printing paper, of the kind used for newspapers, is getting very scarce at both the East and the West. Suppose the supply should fail and stay failed for six months! Would that not give a mighty and needed rest to an overworked people who are wearing out their lives to keep up with alleged news? Would not the failure of the newspaper to print give those in the habit of reading a chance to look over and catch up on the better reading that can be found in books; even in very old books? The papers are very large these days and their contents are for the most part made up of matter which does not provoke thought and which really gives no pleasurable sensation to a cultivated mind. Let anyone take a newspaper (bar The Tidings) of six months ago and read over what was six months ago considered news of importance; and the one doing so will not fail to observe the want of real meat in the talk that the newspapers gave. Six months from now the news papers of today will be just as flat as are those of six months ago. Yes, a failure of a supply of paper would be a great blessing, but the public would not be content under the blessing. The public, however, never is content.

Justice Delayed.

The Eureka have sizzled like soda water under high pressure, over the Paroni affair, but have done nothing to punish the tar and feather gang. It has evidently ended in wind. Like soda water the high pressure, "shot gun" morality has subsided into flat insipidity. There is no use to say what one or a community is going to do and not do it. The men that made Paroni walk naked with a coat of tar for protection, that cold night to Diamond Station, should surely be brought up for trial. They should not be allowed their freedom when they stoop to perpetrate such cruel barbarity on a fellow citizen.—Reveille.

The editor of the Silver State notes the fact that the same ducks that flew South from the Humboldt last Fall are starting North. The editor knows they are the same ducks by the numbered tags he placed on their tails last Fall. It saves a good deal of trouble if you keep your ducks tagged.
